What is Aura?

Aura is an energy field in and around us. While some of the clairvoyants can see this energy field with their mind's eye, most of us can see a halo of light around certain plants, the moon or the sun. It is often captured by a digital camera. Every living and non-living object has an energy field around called auric field.

Where is Aura Located?

Human Aura is in and around the physical body. The oldest records were found in Ancient Indian literature. Maharishi Patanjali had also described them; where he has mentioned about the seven energy centers (Chakras) and a field of energy around the body (human aura). At that time it remained a metaphysical concept until 1939 when a Russian electrician named Simion Kirlian discovered the art of photographing the energy field. Since then Kirlian photography has become the basis of all aura photography in the art of Reading Aura in modern days.

What is the need of Understanding Aura?

Wellness ultimately is a balanced state of mind body and soul. It is a state of bliss, joy, harmony, creativity and dynamism. Wellness depends on our thoughts, feelings and emotions. Wellness depends on our attitudes and life style. It is mind script that we write on our mental screen which blesses us with the gift of wellbeing and this mind script comes from the information that we learn and acquire from family, from school, from college, from work place and from society. An information which is guided and controlled either by our emotional or thought energy has tremendous effect on our personal life, our growth and development, our achievements and failures, our progress and stagnation, our dreams and desires and our hopes and frustrations.

Our auric energy responds to our thought process. Hence through aura reading we can understand our thoughts and their impact on the physical existence and human health. So when our thought process is in sync with our life plan; in general our auric field tends to remain uniform and free flowing, when our thoughts are disturbing and not in sync with our life plan; our auric field seems to get disturbed. So a diseased body is the result of with a 'dis-eased' thought process.

The Human Body Field

New model of biology- according to Peter Fraser, "Human body field" is not a Mechanistic Newtonian construct but it is dynamic web of interrelations among all the physiological processes that the body must perform

The body field is in constant interaction with the environment, influenced by and responding to Geo-pathic stress, magnetic fields, toxins, stress and the like.

Disturbances in the body are documented and interpreted clinically using a number of tests and tools.

A. Kirlian Photography - disturbances in the electromagnetic field generated by the body.

B. Thermography - disturbances in the heat patterns of the body.

C. Electro-Dermal Screening Devices - detect interferences fields of the body.
